MEMORIES...

1988-89

Principal's Message

The yearbook staff are to be commended for assembling a fine book of memories for the 1988-89 school year. It is my sincere hope that from time to time, as you look through your yearbook, you will have many fond memories of your "journey" through Stratford Junior High School. Memories of good friends, fun times, field trips, athletic teams, fine arts, productions, projects made as well as learning and growth experiences should come back to all of us.

To the graduates, you have reached another milestone in your life. On behalf of the Stratford community, I wish you well and hope that each of you are somewhat "richer" for having "passed through" our fine school.

ACTIVITIES

...Generally, the first thing that comes to mind when one contemplates a Valedictory Address, is every cliché in the history of the world arranged in a speech.

There is a rule somewhere that says that's the way it is supposed to be...to sound like an extended greeting card...sentimental and optimistic.

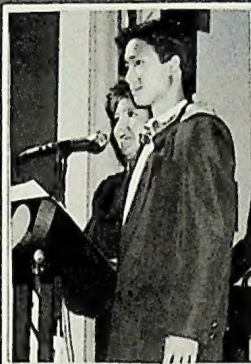

The future is like a great plain before you; a plain that is about seventy years long. For some forty of those years you will need some kind of employment. So unless you want to spend forty years being a PeeWee at West Edm. you had better apply yourself now. In High School and beyond whenever you feel lazy, just think. In your school, there will be another 2,000 students and they'll all be looking for a job at about the same time as you: that means you will need something more than the Record High Score on "Double Dragon" from the arcade for your resume!

We Grade Nines are incredibly fortunate to have gone to Stratford because of the tremendous people here. Our teachers have supported us and worked very hard, and worked us very hard to help us learn. Of course, as in every school, there were some lost causes. But teachers do what they can. Our parents and guardians are to be thanked also, for their help and encouragement.

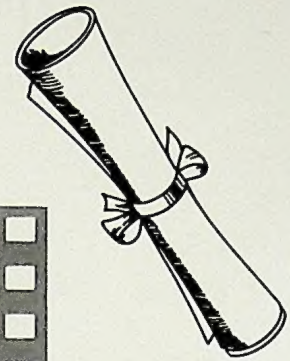

At our age, the personality finally starts to gel. You are less and less, a part of a group; instead you start to become more and more a free individual. Don't try to be anything other than yourself. Be true to yourself and rely on your personality...it will follow you like a dog. Make sure that dog is not a mangy stray; make sure your's is a purebred with a pedigree.

Kelsey MacLaren delivered the Valedictory Address.
